

Spiritualism Is Sermon Subject At Sacred Heart

The mission sermon at the church of the Sacred Heart Friday night will be on "Spiritualism and What It Is." In an interview Friday Father Alard said that thousands of men and women, many of them well educated, are flocking to so-called mediums, the ouija board and other similar sources with the hopes of communing with the spirit world and talking with their departed loved ones. Many claims are made for the reality of spirit messages, spirit photography and automatic writings; the cult is heralded as a new "revelation," all what was once discredited with the title of "psychic research" is coming to be nothing more than a new "black magic."

The Catholic church has the truth to impart in regard to spiritualism true and false and the subject will be fully discussed in the discourse Friday evening.

"Thou Shalt Not Kill" was the subject treated in the morning instruction. "God alone is the author of life and death. He gave life and He alone has the right to take it back. There is a tendency in the present day to hold human life very cheaply. Murders are becoming too common; suicides are increasing at an alarming rate. The nation may have the right to declare war for just reason; the state may have the right in certain cases to deprive the individual criminal of his life for the common good, but the individual has no right wilfully and deliberately either to curtail his own existence or to rob his fellow man of that which he cannot give. But even grosser crimes are as a rule not merely the result of a momentary fit of insanity, as is so often the plea, but rather the outcome of habits of mind allowed to grow unchecked."

"Envy, jealousy, a temper that has never known control are causes that not seldom lead to murder and the taking of human life. Analyze the history of any of those numerous tragedies of which we read so frequently in our dailies, study the psychology of the man charged with murder or of the man slain by his own hand and it will generally be found that his soul has been seared with envy or jealousy or ill-will for months passed; that the murderer or suicide has been the victim of a disposition that knew no self-restraint.

"Self-discipline in habits of thought is absolutely essential for the man who would be master of himself at all times. If one does not wish to be the plaything of his passions, he must learn to curb in time the jealous, envious feelings in his heart and to be master of his thoughts."

Sure! Going to Play.
